EXTRAORDINARY VERDICT IN THE BARKER CASE-THE PRISONER HELD DESPITE THE VERDICT.

THE PRISONER HELD DESPITE THE VERDICT.

The inquest in the case of Thomas Barker, the retired upholsterer, who on last Sunday morning was found dead on the stoop of Richard O'Donnell's house at No. 1,923 Third-ave, was held yesterday by Coroner Herrmann. O'Donnell had been arrested on suspicion of having killed Mr. Barker, and has mother made a statezaent that left no doubt in the minds of the police of his guilt. In a quarrel over a pet dog belonging to Mr. Barker, and which, when he was found dead, stood watching his body, O'Donnell had oushed Mr. Barker down the stoop, and the fall had killed him.

On the witness stand yesterday, Mrs. O'Donnell repeated her story with tears. Both men had been drinking the night before Barker's death. Her son took the dog to the house on Saturday afternoon, and Mr. Barker came for it. At night O'Donnell brought it home again, ordering the servant not to let any one have it. At midnight Mr. Barker roused the family by ringing the door-bell and d-manding his dog. He would not go away, and Mrs. O'Donnell went to find the dog. Her son was roused and went to the door despite her pleadings. Hard words pressed between him and Mr. Barker, and at last O'Donnell usubed the old man from the stoop end closed the door. No one knew till daylight that Barker was dead. Her son when the bedy was found, tried to make her promise to say that he had not been home during the night, but she refused to do so, and advised him to go to the police and tell the circumstances.

By advice of his counsel the prisoner, Richard do so, and advised him to go to the police and tell the circumstances.

By advice of his counsel the prisoner, Richard O'Donnell, took the stand. He said that he took the dog in sport. When he came after it Mr. Barker made a great outery, and wanted him to fight.
When he became very aggressive the witness shut the door in his face and went to bed. They had always been friends, and O'Donnell was horrified at finding Mr. Barker dead on the stoop in the merning. Testimony was given to show that Mr. Barker died from a fracture of the skull.

The six Germans and four Irishmen who composed the jury argued the merits of the case for half an hour, and then returned the following verdict:
"We find that the deceased, Thomas Barker, came to his death by an accidental fall or push, or blow causing a fall, at the hands of some person to us unknown."

Coroner Herrmann looked at the jury in amazement and asked if, in view of the evidence, this was really their verdict. The jury nodded affirmatively.
"Then," said the Coroner, "you must be very stupid jurymen indeed. I shall discharge the jury, but I shall hold the prisoner." Turning to Captam Robbins, who took the prisoner in his charge, he added, "Don't you ever bring me another jury from Ha-lem."

MUTINY ON SHIPBOARD.

MUTINY ON SHIPBOARD.

Testimony was taken by Notary Public J. J. Ferris yesterday, in relation to an attempt at mutiny on board of the British bark Windermere, which sailed from this port for Beitast, Ireland, on Wednesday. Those who testified were John H. Magford, of No. 64 Pearl-st., Samuel and James Fleming, stevedores, and Cartain Charles H. Burdett and George Maloney. Just before leaving the wharf in charge of a pilot, the chiet mate deserted the vessel. His position was filled by Second Mate Brennan, and seaman Mansfield was offered the position of second mate, which he declined. William Nieman, another scannan, was then promoted to the vacancy. Immediately after the selection and while the bark was going down the bay, Mansfield refused to do du'y and ran to the fercesstle, enlling some of the others of the crew after him, and giving them some honor. He also tried to get them to refuse to do duty, and they partly promised to do so.

Mansfield afterward appeared on deck almost without clothing, and using profane and threatening language to Captain Mann and to Nieman. Fearing that he might carry his threats into execution, the captain's wife pleaded with her husband not to go to sea. The vessel at this time was passing through a narrow and intricate channel in the lower bay, and Mansfield was using all efforts to incite the rest of the crew to mutiny. When ordered to handle the sails to brevent the vessel from going ashore, the men absolutely refused to do so, and would have continued to refuse duty had not the persons who gave their affidavits yesterday shown a determination to use violent means to compel them to desist from earrying their threats into execution. Mansfield was ordered by the captain to go below, which he refused to do, and then struck the captain overnowered his assailant, who promised to return to duty. The captain then hisrated him, but he at once began his threatenings again, and attacked the cook, who knocked him down with a stick. Finding that persuasion was useless, Mansfield was str

TAXING BANK STOCK.

The Tax Commissioners, immediately after the passage by the Legislature of a law placing bank stock on the same footing as all other personal property, sent to the president of each bank a request to furnish a list of the stockholders, in order that they might be assessed for taxation. The Commissioners vesterday received copies of the following communication from cleven of the principal banks:

upon the annual record of the assessed valuation of placing—the name of any stocknowler of this band upon the annual record of the assessed valuation of real and personal estate for 1880, or to assess and tax any such stockholder with respect to his shares of stock in the bank."

Nevertheless the Tax Commissioners will assess each individual stockholder the amount of his stock unless he of she appears in person and pleads the usual exemption under the law.

THE SUICIDE IN THE HOSPITAL.

The body of the man who committed suicide in St. Vincent's Hospital on Thursday was removed to an undertaker's shop yesterday by his friends from Philadelphia. J. V. Mettler, of No. 1.314 Fourthave, recognized the man as his brother-m-law, John W. Smith, of Philadelphia. Mr. Mettler informed the dead man's tather. Garretson Smith, of the firm of Smith & Brown, pattern-makers, of Philadelphia. The man's friends are unable to account for his rash act. They had supposed that he was prosperous in business, and there were no family troubles that would cause him to take his bife, as he was not married. His friends know of no reason why he called himself Jones, nor had they any knowledge of his intended trip to Europe. It had been rumored in Philadelphia, however, so it is stated, that Smith was about to be married and that he tried to escape from it by going to Europe. It is supposed that when he found that the accident prevented him from sailing he determined upon suicide.

CHARGES TO BE INVESTIGATED.

CHARGES TO BE INVESTIGATED.

It is expected that preliminary arrangements will be made to-day by the committee appointed by the Board of Directors of the New York Juverale Asylum to investigate the charges which have recently been made against the management of that institution. The committee consists of J. F. Joy, the Rev. E. M. Kingsley and O. E. Wood. The charges are ten in number, and are preferred by Sarah Armstrong, a more formerly in the service of the Juvenile Asylum. They charge the superintendent of the Asylum, Elisha Carpenter, with neglecting and abusing the children in different ways. President Apollos R. Wetmore said yesterday to a Tribury reporter that the Board was satisfied that the charges were false. "Superintendent Carpenter," he added, "has been in charge of the Asylum for nine years, and we have perfect confidence in both him and his wife."

MURDEROUS ASSAULT WITH AN AXE. MURDEROUS ASSAULT WITH AN AXE.

Timothy Malden, wi o was murderously assaulted with an axe by Patrick Kearney, at the foot of Horatio-st. on Wednesday, is still lying in a critical condition in St. Vincent's Hospital. The physicians say that although he may possibly recover, his chances are slight. Several detectives have been detailed to look after Kearney, but he has not yet been arrested. The axe with which the assault was committed is in the Ninth Precinct Station House, and holds a prominent position in a small museum of "dous," pistols, "jimmies," and other tools of murderers and thieves, to each of which a story of crime is attached. No motive for the evidently deliberate attempt at murder has yet been discovered.

THE EAST RIVER BRIDGE.

Governor Cernell having signed the bill authorizing the expenditure of $2,500,000 m completing the Brooklyn Bridge, work upon the structure will be pashed rapidly forward. It is predicted that the bridge will be open for travel in a little more than a year. About 400 men are now working on the New-York approach. The work of tenring down old St. Ann's Church, in Washington-st., Brooklyn, will be begun in a few days.

TELEPHONE COMPANIES CONSOLIDATED. TELEPHONE COMPANIES CONSOLIDATED.

A consolidation of the Beil Telephone Company of this city and the private lines and telephone department of the Gold and Stock Telegraph Company has been made. At a meeting of the officers of both companies at No.923 Broadway, Thursday, the valuations of the property, rights and privileges of each company were submitted and the consolidation was effected. The Gold and Stock Company transfers all the telephone business done by it, together with the private lines under its control to the number of about 500, and the Beil Telephone Company puts in all its property to the new company, which will control the entire business now done by both companies.

THE WESTERN IRON ASSOCIATION.

PITTSBURG, Penn., April 8.—The Western Iron Association adopted a resolution yesterday that the card rate should be reduced from $4 to $3 20, to take the first of the system of the Beil Telephone Company of the Precinct for the Inventor to the number of about 500, and the Beil Telephone Company puts in all its property to the new company, which will control the entire business now done by both companies.

decided upon. An increase will be made in the capital stock, which will probably be put at $1.500,000. The stock of the Bell Telephone Company is now $100,000, but its valuation is ten times that figure. There will be a change in the system of charges, but there will probably be no change in the rates to subscribers in this city. The actual transfer of the property will not take place until May 1, except in New-Jersey and the suburbs, where it will be transferred as soon as possible. The new company will begin active operations on May 1, and will have absolute control of the telephone business of New-York City, together with the country for thirty-three miles around it.

EXAMINING OLEOMARGARINE.

York City, together with the country for thirty-three miles around it.

A sub-committee of the Congressional Committee on Agriculture paid a visit to the eleomargarine factory of the Connected Manufacturing Company at Forty-eighth-st. and North River yesterday morning, for the purpose of examining the products of the factory and the methods of manufacture. The committee consists of Congressmen D. Wyatt Aiken, of South Carolina, Jonas H. McGowan, of Michigan, Albert Carolina, Jonas H. McGowan, of Michigan, Albert Carolina, Jonas H. McGowan, of Michigan, Albert P. Forsythe, of Illinois, James B. Richmond, of Virginia, and John A. Anderson, of Kansas. S. W. Downey, of Wyomin Territory, was also with the committee. Among the other persons present were F. B. Thurber, Clark Bell, W. S. Carroll, of Baltimore, and Dr. H. A. Mott.

The process of oleomargarine manufacture was explained to the committee, the members of which spent over an hour in the large rooms of the building. The members of the committee expressed themselves as surprise I at the sweetness and clear-liness of everything. The party then steamed around the harbor in a Government tag, upon which a lunch was surred, and subsequently rode the length of the Sixth Avenue Elevated Road. The members of the committee were anxious to learn all of the facts about the making and importing of eleomargarine, but were not melined to express any except general opinions.

In the evening the Congressional Committee dined at Delmomeo's, at the invitation of William Remsen, managing drector of the Commercial Manufacturing Company, the principal manufacturers of eleomargarine in the country. There were noarly 200 guests present. William Remsen presided, and at the raised table on either side of him were B. F. Fracy, B. A. Willis, Juo. F. Spier, J. B. Richmond, J. A. Anderson, D. Wyatt Aiken, Alzernon S. Sullivan, J. H. McGowan, W. L. Steele, Professor Morton, A. P. Forsythe, S. W. Downey, G. E. Elbison, Peter Cooper, Jange Van Houst, Georges, Men. J. A. Moderson, D. Watt A.

ONLY TRANSFERRED FOR A FEW MINUTES. The Police Commissioners yesterday made Captain Robbins, of the Twenty-third, and Captain Killilen, of the Thirty-third Precinct, change places, but immediately retransferred them to their old commands. They were moved to do this by a letter that was read after the first transfer had been made. It was from an employé of The Westchester Times, and charged Detective Wilkins, of the I hirty-third Precinct, with threatening the life of the writer for publishing certain alleged exposures of police relations to the policy-shops in the district. It was decided that Captain Killifea should stay in his precinct until the charge had been inquired into.

EFFICIENCY OF EDISON'S MACHINES.

A REPORT BY TWO COLLEGE PROFESSORS ON THIS SUBJECT.

Mr. Edison recently invited Professor George F. Barker, of the University of Pennsylvania, and Professor H. A. Rowland, of the Lohns Hopkins University, to test the efficiency of his dynamomagnetic machines at Menlo Park. The purpose was to ascertain the amount of light generated by one horse-power of the steam engite. This is an important point in regard to electric lighting of houses, because the question of its economy is to be decided thereby.

The two professors made an examination at Menlo Park about the middle of the mouth of March. A paper containing the results they arrived at will appear in the April number of The American Journal of Science and Art. Advance sheets thereof have been sent to The Tribune.

The test of efficiency was made by immersing a lamp in water and observing the total amount of lamp in water and observing the total amount of lamp in water and observing the total amount of lamp in water and observing the residual and the professors which saled from the appear in the April number. A second Mr. Edison recently invited Professor George F.

heat imparted to the water per minute. A second lamp was at the same time placed in the photometer so as to obtain a record of its brilliancy. Then the two lamps were made to change places, and the results newly obtained were recorded. The mean of the two sets of results was taken as the true efficiency. Three lamps were employed, two having paper carbon burners, and one having a burner of earbonized manila fibre. This test was based on the well-known scientific law that a rise of temperature well-known scientific law that a rise of temperature of 1° in one pound of water per minute indicates an expenditure of 772 toot-pounds or ½3 of one horse-nower. It was the only test made.

Professors Barker and Rowland found that the paper carbons gave out only one-third as much light in the flame of the edge as in a direction perpendicular to the surface. In stating the light obtained therefrom an averace was taken.

The following table shows the results obtained by Professors Rowland and Barker:

No, of lamp.	Light ob- tained in candles.	Energy devel-	teen can	No. of lights per actual horse-power recent for less of power by friction in the engine and nachinery and resistance in the conducting wires, Professors Rowland and Barker conclude as follows:

The increased efficiency with rise of temperature is clearly shown by the table, and there is no reason, provided the carbons can be made to stand, why the number of candles per herse-power might not be greatly increased, seeing that the amount which can be obtained from the arc is from 1,000 to 2,000 candles per horse-power. Provided the lamp can be made either cheap enough or durable enough, there is no reasonable doubt of the practical success of the light but this point will require much further experiment before the light can be pronounced practicable.

The namer states that the test of efficiency of the

The paper states that the test of efficiency of the Edison machines was entered upon because of the popular interest in the subject, and because accounts of this light have thus far been given to the public chiefly by papers and magazines, "and newspaper science has justly a very unenviable reputation for accuracy."
